ART. 6 - RESEARCH ACTIVITIES

The Fellowship implies carrying out the activities briefly mentioned below at Dipartimento di Scienze della Terra Ardito Desio dell'Università degli Studi di Milano and under the supervision of Prof. Chen Jian within the research programme "GAEME, Gravimetry and Airborne EM Exploration", of the following research program and its specific aims:

GAEME, Gravimetry and Airborne EM Exploration, is a research project aimed at innovating mineral exploration for the transition to the green economy through the integration of airborne electromagnetics and gravimetry. Of the five clusters identified by the European Union to guide the green transition, and included in the PNR 2021-2027, Cluster 4 - Digital, Industry and Space - explicitly identifies the development of a sustainable and safe supply chain of minerals and critical minerals, possibly within European borders, as a key direction of the green transition. The innovation that will be developed in GAEME is based on the integration of two geophysical methodologies for the identification and characterization of mineral resources included in the list of Green Transition Raw Materials (GTRM): 1) the gravimetric methodology and 2) the Airborne electromagnetic methodology (AEM) from helicopter/aircraft and is currently recognized as one of the most innovative methodologies in geophysics for mineral exploration. The joint inversion of gravimetric and electromagnetic data with the application of cross-gradient constraints will improve the interpretation of the results, thanks to the overlapping of sensitivity to the mineral targets of these two methodologies.

The research activities are reported here:

1. Development and application of methodologies for the inversion and interpretation of gravimetric, magnetic and electromagnetic data;
2. Processing and inversion of gravimetric, magnetic and electromagnetic data;

3. Acquisition of geophysical data in the field, in Italy and abroad;
4. Dissemination
